Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduation exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with "trailing elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material such as velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the University faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities - white	Medicine - green
Commerce, Accountancy, Business - drab	Music - pink
Education - light blue	Nursing - apricot
Engineering - orange	Philosophy - dark blue
Fine Arts - brown	Physical Education - sage green
Journalism - crimson	Science - golden yellow
Law - purple	Social Science - cream
Library Science - lemon	Theology - scarlet
	Veterinary Science - gray

Alma Mater

(The audience is invited to participate.)

Far above the rolling campus,
Resting in the dale,
Stands the dear old Alma Mater
We will always hail.
Shout in chorus, raise your voices,
Blue and Gold - praise you.
Winning through to fame and glory,
Dear old MSU.

The University Mace

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England when a person bearing a mace, a formidable weapon, walked in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions, to protect him or her from personal injury.

As adapted by European and American universities, the mace has become a symbol of office of the institution's president and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. At Morehead State, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award.

The current mace of Morehead State University was fashioned from Eastern Kentucky walnut in 1984 by John S. VanHoose, a retired faculty member from the Department of Industrial and Engineering Technology.

Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduation exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with "trailing elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material such as velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the University faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities - white	Medicine - green
Commerce, Accountancy, Business - drab	Music - pink
Education - light blue	Nursing - apricot
Engineering - orange	Philosophy - dark blue
Fine Arts - brown	Physical Education - sage green
Journalism - crimson	Science - golden yellow
Law - purple	Social Science - cream
Library Science - lemon	Theology - scarlet
	Veterinary Science - gray

The University Mace

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England when a person bearing a mace, a formidable weapon, walked in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions, to protect him or her from personal injury.

As adapted by European and American universities, the mace has become a symbol of office of the institution's president and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. At Morehead State, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award.

The current mace of Morehead State University was fashioned from Eastern Kentucky walnut in 1984 by John S. VanHoose, a retired faculty member from the Department of Industrial and Engineering Technology.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Wayne D. Andrews, a New England native who made Appalachia his adopted home, has served since January 1, 2005, as the 13th president of Morehead State University.

He is a graduate of Fitchburg State College in Massachusetts where he earned a B.S. degree in 1974 and of West Virginia University where he received a master's in 1976 and a doctorate in 1977.

Dr. Andrews has 33 years of higher education experience at three public, comprehensive universities: Morehead State, East Tennessee State and Illinois State. He has served in a variety of roles, including a tenured professorship in engineering technology, department chair, executive assistant to the president, vice president for student affairs, vice president for administration, vice president for administration and chief operating officer and president. His potential for leadership was recognized in 1993 with his selection as a Fellow of the American Council on Education (ACE).

He was appointed by Gov. Ernie Fletcher and then reappointed by Gov. Steve Beshear as one of Kentucky's five representatives on the Southern Regional Education Board. He has served as president of the Ohio Valley Conference.

Dr. Andrews is an Army veteran whose hobbies include restoration of antique clocks and the singing and playing of traditional music. He and his wife of 42 years, Susan, a retired elementary school reading specialist, have two adult children, Josh and Jill.

President and Mrs. Andrews reside on campus in the President's Home which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

James H. Booth and Linda D. Booth of Inez, will be presented honorary degrees. Mr. Booth will receive a Doctor of Business degree while a Doctor of Public Service degree will be awarded to Mrs. Booth.

A longtime member of the Morehead State University Board of Regents and former chair, Booth is a successful entrepreneur in the retail business and coal industry. He has been in the mining industry for more than 40 years, cultivating a small contract mining company in 1975 into a $750 million annualized revenue coal producing and retail marketing entity. Through his businesses, Mr. Booth has created more than 2,000 jobs for the region.

Jim Booth believes in education and serves students in the state and region through his commitment to higher education. In addition to providing leadership at MSU, he also serves on the University of Kentucky and University of Pikeville Board of Trustees.

Mr. Booth received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Morehead State. Active in numerous civic and charitable ventures, he has served on the Federal Reserve Board of Directors, Cincinnati Branch, Cleveland Federal Reserve District; Inez Deposit Bank Board of Directors; Big Sandy Industrial Authority Board; Coal Operators Associates Board; Martin County Economic Development Board; and chairman of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Board.

In 2000, Jim Booth was named to MSU's Alumni Hall of Fame and honored as an Outstanding College of Business alumnus. He received the 2001 Kentucky Governor's Economic Development Leadership Award and the 2002 East Kentucky Leadership Award. Recently, the Southeast Kentucky Chamber of Commerce recognized him as Citizen of the Year.

For more than 30 years, Linda Booth has developed and managed specialty retail businesses and has been successful in commercial and residential interior design, including franchised hotels through Interstate Lodging Inc. based in Lovely. Her expertise in the industry also includes renovations of high value residential homes and interior design for commercial office spaces.

In 1998, Mrs. Booth established and designed Miss Ida's Tea Room in Inez, where she manages daily operations. She is a member of the board of directors of Inez First Baptist Church, Haven of Rest, Three Rivers Medical Center and the Mountain Arts Center. She also serves on the boards of Bible Studies Fellowship International and East Kentucky Sunrise Ministries.

In recognition of their enduring support of MSU and our region and commitment to MSU's mission of educating students from Eastern Kentucky and beyond, MSU's Space Center building was named in honor of Jim and Linda Booth, and Elmer and the late Donna Smith.

Amy Lane Storner of Lexington is today's student speaker. The daughter of Debby Griffin and John Storner, she is the mother of two children, Quinton Anthony Storner, 12, and Peyton Camille Piersawl, 5.

Storner is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in social work.

A graduate of Lafayette Senior High School, Storner was a member of the National Honor Society, National Spanish Honor Society, Beta Club, Kappa Gamma and section leader in the state champion Lafayette High School Marching Band. She began attending MSU in 2010 as a transfer student from Eastern Kentucky University, 11 years after graduating from high school.

While attending Morehead State, Storner has maintained a 4.0 grade-point-average and been selected for the dean's list nine consecutive semesters. She was awarded a Morehead State University Foundation Scholarship and selected for membership in the Social Work Honor Society.

Storner graduated from the Montgomery County Citizen's Police Academy in June 2012.

She completed her junior and senior practicum hours at the Montgomery County Division of Protection and Permanency. She also has volunteered more than 2,200 hours for the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services (Family Support Office and Division of Protection and Permanency) in Mt. Sterling during the past two years.

After graduation, she will seek employment in the social work field and pursue a Master of Social Work degree.
